Dive weekend – Aug 15-16
Dive courses, specialties & events
Red Deer dive division

Dive

night: We are happy to report that dive night is going strong! We have 20 to 25 divers each Tues. evening. Vis is still 10 to 15 ft. at the platform. There are only three dive nights left! AAKK. With the late start this year, we may go a bit into Sept. - weather permitting.

- Boat traffic seems heavier this summer, fly a flag and deploy a safety sausage for the swim to the dock, or if you are diving outside the radius of the dive flags set out.
- Be aware of social distancing while gearing up and visiting
- Hand sanitizer is available.
- Rental equipment is disinfected after each use.

Dive classes:

Alberta Adventure Divers is meeting the 2020 Covid challenges with solid instruction. Our student divers receive personalized instruction, individualized training plans, and semi-private lessons, with the goal to develop strong and confident scuba divers.

We are teaching Open Water classes, Dry Suit, Peak Performance and Full Face mask specialties on dive nights, and also Sunday mornings.

Dive weekend Aug 15-16: Let's have a fun weekend of random diving. We have several students who have requested the advanced class, or specialties, and we would like to help divers complete courses before the short summer comes to an end.

Call the dive store or email to sign up!

Red Deer Diving: Mark and David had a busy week rigging up an air compressor in Mark's dive trailer. As soon as the air test results are back we'll be offering scuba fills around Red Deer! Mark also has a selection of rental equipment, if you wish to dive in lakes near Red Deer.

Actually, last week was not all work – this was baby Gabe's first holiday, and we made sure he had great cabin time and his first boat ride!

Baby Mark and baby Gabe – yes, it is the same life jacket!

Dive travel: We are postponing our bucket list trip - diving with the great whites at Guadalupe -to Sept 5 to 10, 2021!!!

Woman's Dive Day: We had a great time finding sharks at Clear Lake! All divers earned their PADI Project Aware Shark Awareness certification.

Dan's Deals:

We have the brand new Shearwater Peregrine computer in the store. Check them out – amazing!

Hope to see you next weekend!
