Clear Lake update:
A heads up...just in case you wanted to squeeze in one more dive!

Clear Lake update: Nov 10, was a 'cool' day, as we could watch the ice closing in around the lake. The un-cool part is that our dive season is in that 'no-man's land' between open water and ice diving.

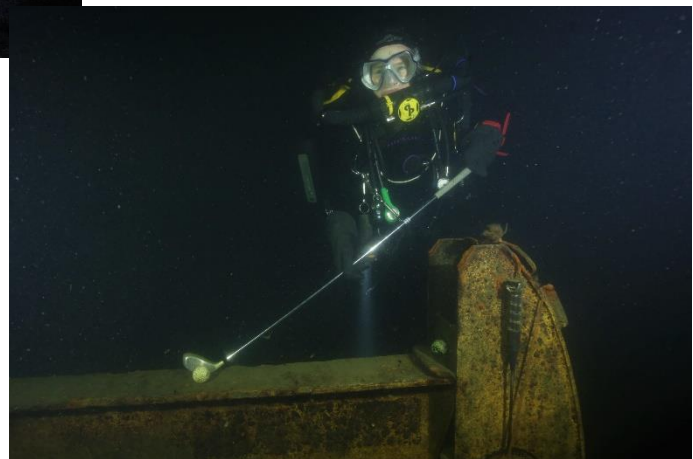

So...in the meantime, come on in to the dive store, where it is warm and cozy!
We'll share stories, and you can check out the Christmas treasures we are creating.

The final Clear Lake 'open water' dive of 2020: Nov. 4! David and Connie took advantage of a nice evening. The dive started at 5 pm, and it was already a dark night!
It's a new record: the latest we have ever dove in Clear Lake.

Golfing and diving in November in Alberta – life is good!

Seasons change: Now that we are putting away the golf clubs and dive gear, it is time to turn our thoughts to Christmas. We are very excited about our new gift cards! More Christmas coming soon.
