Dive fun: Aug. 28 & 29
Final dive night: Aug 31
Sept. dive plans – Rescue & Pumpkin dive!

Local diving! We'd love to see you join us for a strong finish to an amazing dive season!

Quite surprisingly, the days are getting shorter and cooler. Who knew this would happen?

Sat/Sun Aug 28 & 29: Join us on a great dive weekend:
Open Water, Advanced & specialty scuba courses: If you have completed on-line theory – this is your opportunity to complete dives before summer ends. Register with Dan at the dive store. We'll have a compliment of pro-staff present.

Certified divers:

Join us for a fun dive, or help with a project: put tags on lines; build scaffold underwater; move the cow, boat, pipe . . . new lines were put in at dive night.

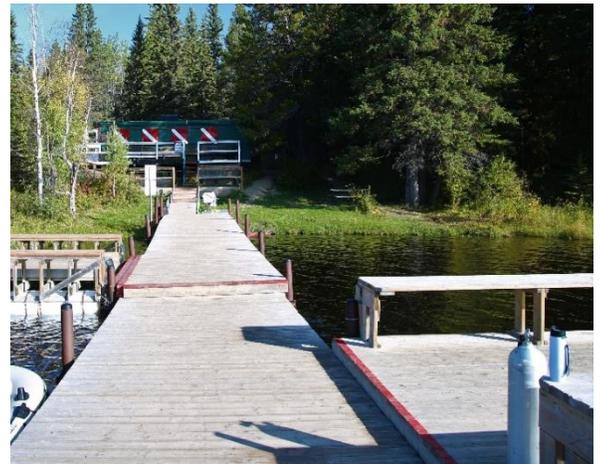

Clear Lake report: The visibility varies from 5 to 20 feet. The water is warmish (64 F), you may see Walleye, Northern Pike, or Perch.

Dive night! Wow – our final dive night is next week. If we sneak in any extra Sept. dive nights we will post it on Facebook.

Sept. diving: The underwater visibility improves in Sept, the beach is not crowded, the lake is our own: peace descends on our scuba world.

Sun. Sept. 12: Twin Lake: Connie, David and Mark will be diving at Twin Lake. This is the day after our bike race in Drayton Valley; we are looking forward to diving. Join us for a day trip on Sun.; or dive on Sat. and we'll meet you Sat. evening in the campground.

Sept. 18 & 19: Rescue course: as always, certified divers are welcome to do fun dives whenever we teach a course.

Sept. 18 & 19: Rescue course: We believe that all divers should take the Rescue course. This course is about awareness, and prevention of problems by recognition and early response. The prerequisite is Adventure Diver (which is three dives from the Advanced course) and first aid (if yours has expired, we teach this as well). If you are the diver who travels on dive vacations, you may experience a diver or dive buddy who has not kept up their diving skills, equipment or knowledge, and may become a hazard to himself or his buddy. The rescue course will assist with improving your recognition of signs to be aware of, and how to respond.

Many call Rescue their most memorable PADI course, and it is just as relevant and important to those who dive occasionally. A focus is on preventing problems by improving your situational awareness. As always, we offer the best dive training by our experienced and accomplished scuba pro staff. Join us for an action packed weekend filled with information, diving and excitement.

Sept 25: Pumpkin dive – save the date!!!! Join us for a mystery dive, followed by the pumpkin carving dive; then divers dry off, warm up, compare results and attempt to bribe the judges. With the current Covid/Delta variant situation, we will maintain the strategies used last fall to have a safe dive event. We will not have a bbq lunch, and no cuddling in the cook shack over the warm fire, but we will have a ton of fun. If you are interested, please send a message to the dive store.

Conspirators and schemers: yes, you should be suspicious when these guys get together.

And, when you see them with lift bags and ratchet straps....something is up! The only way you will find out is to come out for a dive.
